Headline:
Sunshine and showers today, locally heavy at times. Feeling warm.

Today:
Cloudy with outbreaks of rain across parts of Cornwall and Devon, gradually turning brighter from the east. Elsewhere, sunny spells with some showers breaking out in the afternoon, locally heavy at times. Feeling warm in the sunshine, with light winds. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Tonight:
A wet evening and night. The occasional heavy shower lingers on into the evening, and then with bands of rain moving eastwards across all parts overnight. Mostly cloudy. Minimum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Sunday:
Generally cloudy on Sunday, with some organised heavy showers slowly moving eastwards and brighter spells in between. Becoming drier with clear spells following on from the west later. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Mostly fine and dry with sunny spells on Monday and Tuesday once early fog patches have cleared. A band of showery rain likely to move southeastwards on Wednesday. Windy too.
